Herald; Fire Chief A. H. Lankford. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A committee representing the Chamber of Commerce appeared before the Board and Messrs. J. F. Lilly and C. O. Pulliam addressed the Trustees in an appeal for financial assistance for that body, stating that the Chamber maintains a rest room which is patronized by the general public, and is at all times active as far as its means will permit in advancing the interest of the city.

Trustee Williams made a motion that the Board appropriate from the Advertising and Promotion Fund, the sum of Two Hundred Dollars, to be paid $25.00 monthly beginning January 1, 1916, until September 1, 1916. The motion was seconded and carried.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds addressed the Board as chairman of the Railroad Committee, which has for a year or more past been working for the extension of the Pacific Electric Railroad from Glendale Avenue eastward to the Child's Tract line and southerly to connection at Tropic with the main line of that company. He presented a formal application from the Pacific Electric Railway company for a franchise on Broadway in the City of Glendale, easterly from Glendale Avenue to the Child's Tract line.

On motion of Trustee Thompson, the application was referred to the City Attorney. Later the City Attorney presented an ordinance granting the franchise applied for, and upon motion of Trustee Williams, the ordinance granting to Pacific Electric Railway company, a corporation, and its successors and assigns, the right to construct, maintain and operate for a period of Fifty (50) years, an electric railroad over certain streets in the City of Glendale, was taken up for the first reading. On motion, this ordinance was declared read for the first time and was taken up for the second reading. On motion this ordinance was declared read for the second time and was laid over till the next regular meeting for the third and final reading.

Individual petitions were presented from Geo. W. Reaser, F. E. Wright and Harmon W. Potter, asking for the opening of Penn Street from Columbus avenue to Central avenue; in connection with these petitions, a petition was read to the same effect signed by A. S. Case, J. O. Woodward and fifteen others.

Upon motion of Trustee Grist, the petitions were referred to the City Engineer. The City Engineer suggested that the time for hearing protests against the opening of Penn street be set for Monday evening, January 24th next, and on motion of Trustee Grist, it was so ordered.

A communication was read from the City Engineer recommending the approval by the Trustees of a map, which accompanied the communication, of Tract No. 2999, the same being adjacent to the City of Glendale. Upon motion of Trustee Grist, the map was approved.

The following communication was read from City Marshal Geo. H. Herald:

"January 10, 1916.

Mr. T. W. Watson,
City Manager,
Bldg.

Dear Sir:—I herewith beg to tender you my resignation as City Marshal of the City of Glendale. Effective at once.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) GEO. H. HERALD."

Upon motion of Trustee Williams, the matter was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A communication was read from Miss W. F. Marr, calling attention to her ownership of street improvement bond Number 50, Assessment No. 70, Series No. 1, against Lot 54, Tract No. 250, City of Glendale. Being read, the same was ordered to be filed.

Mr. Frank Chase, on behalf of the Glendale Athletic club, presented complimentary tickets to the members of the Board, and the City Manager, for an entertainment to be given by the club at its own club rooms, First and Glendale avenue, Tuesday evening next.

City Attorney Evans reported that delay in the proceedings for the op-

UNDER ROYAL ARCH

UNITY CHAPTER NO. 116 IN-STALLS OFFICERS WITH
POMP AND CEREMONY

Lights flashed, music rang and faces were all aglow at the brilliant installation ceremony at the Masonic Temple Monday night, when William Henry Gaynor, grand high priest, imposed on the recently chosen officials of Unity Chapter No. 116, Royal Arch Masons, their vows of office. The large hall of the Temple was beautifully decorated with red and white carnations, the colors of the Chapter. The tables at the banquet were decorated with white narcissus and ferns.

Mattison Boyd Jones, high priest, acting as master of ceremonies, presented the following officers for installation: Dale Owen Peet, high priest; Ross Henry Rook, king; Frank H. Vesper, treasurer; C. Harry Woolsey, secretary; C. Irving Mills, D. D., chaplain; Clem Moore, captain of the host; Mark Thurlow Lee, principal sojourner; Daniel Kelly, Jr., royal arch captain; William Small Rattray, master of the third vail; S. Riley Lyons, master of the second vail; Ira Lincoln Vance, master of the first vail; Henry Richmond Goodwin, organist; Charles Henry Ravenscroft, sentinel. Roy William Masters, scribe, was unavoidably absent through sickness.

After installation Samuel Edgerton Burke, grand captain of the guard, presented on behalf of Mattison B. Jones, retiring high priest, a very handsome Bible to the chapter. Dr. Mills, the chaplain, accepted the gift in suitable terms. A most enjoyable program was presented. Miss Cable's readings, Frank Collier's classical songs and Julius Kranz' exquisite violin playing charmed the audience. Edward Byron Spencer, grand king, gave an interesting address on "The New Masonic Home at Covina."

Mattison B. Jones, master of ceremonies, with appropriate welcome, invited the guests to the banquet and a most pleasant time was enjoyed.

DEATH OF MRS. FRANCIS

On Monday evening, January 10, 1916, at half past seven, Mrs. Oneto Francis, wife of Rev. E. E. Francis of the Central Christian church, passed from this life to her eternal rest and the reward of a well spent Christian life. Heart failure, due to uremic poisoning, caused her death.

Oneto Nelson was born at Canton, Mo., 41 years ago. For the past twelve years Rev. and Mrs. Francis have lived in the West. They came to Glendale two years ago last September, when Rev. Francis assumed the pastorate of the Christian church and this sweet and gentle lady came to be greatly loved not only by the people of the church but by all with whom she came in touch. She possessed all those qualities that go to make an ideal wife of a minister. She was active, as long as health permitted, in all departments of the church work, lending her aid and encouragement and her best efforts to advance the work of the church and the kingdom of the Master. In her home a devoted wife and mother is mourned by the bereaved husband and little son. Besides these loved ones she leaves her parents in Canton, Mo., and two sisters, one in Carnegie, Okla., and the other in Oklahoma City.

Funeral services will be held at the Christian church Thursday morning at half past nine, Prof. D. R. Dungan being in charge of the services. The body will lie in state from 9:00 to 9:30 in order that friends who wish may view the remains. Mr. Francis and little son, Donald, will leave at 1:30 via the Santa Fe for Canton, Mo., where they take the body for interment.

For the first time in many weeks have all members been present and an unusually happy time was spent. Mrs. Willis Kimball was fortunate enough to capture the beautiful prize.

GOOD BUSINESS YEAR

MANAGER OF SCHILLING STORE SAYS TRADE IS BRISK WITH PROMISE OF BETTER TIMES

Whatever depression may reign elsewhere there is none in the S. A. Schilling company's dry goods store, 1204-6 W. Broadway and 403 Brand Blvd. In order to display the choice goods for which this firm is well-known throughout Glendale and its vicinity, Mrs. Margaret Ranger, manager of the store, has just enlarged and improved the entrance on Brand boulevard and installed two large single-pane recessed windows. This will give a modern appearance to the boulevard front of the store. It is also evidence of the progressive and modern character of this store.

"This store has had one of the best years of its history throughout 1915. Whatever others may have experienced the experience of this store has been that business steadily improved as the year went on. I anticipate a much better year in 1916," said Mrs. Ranger. "Glendale is growing steadily and if left to its natural development should, before many years are over, be the important business center of the developing San Fernando valley. It has all the elements that tend to make a city grow. As it extends so will this business extend."

"I have never seen a year open more bright with promise in our line than 1916. There is not a complaint that I could make. Our business is conducted on the most modern lines. We handle staple goods like the Nemo corset, the Onyx hose and the Merode underwear. Such articles sell on their own merit and they are advertised widely by the firms that make them. Our other stocks are all high-class and reliable."

"As far as the war is concerned it cannot affect our business, at least at present, to any great extent. Doubtless there has been an appreciation of prices in some lines; but on the whole dry goods are just as cheap as they ever were. As for future sales we ordered our goods from abroad six months ago. They are on the road now and there is not likely to be any interruption to the coming and going of the ships that bring them."

"We buy our goods direct from the mill and thus save one profit. In fact, wherever it is possible to buy wholesale we do so and consequently can offer our customers prices in many cases lower than those of Los Angeles. Our overhead expenses are much lower—rent, for instance, is one item in which we have an immense advantage over the city stores. Glendale people are aware of these facts and patronize this store in a highly gratifying manner. We expect more custom than ever throughout 1916."

FIRST LEAGUE GAME

The first league game of the Southern California A. A. U. basketball championship will be played tonight, Tuesday, in the Glendale Athletic club's new gymnasium quarters, at the corner of First and Glendale avenue. The game will begin at 7:30. Both teams will play. The line-up of the unlimited and also of the 140-lb. teams will be the same as at last game. The boys are in excellent shape and should be able to walk away with the trophy. The trophy is a handsome silver piece known as the Seward A. Simon trophy. The members of the winning team will also each receive a gold medal. The opponents of the local teams this time are the formidable Los Angeles Athletic club and the game is certain to be both fast and interesting. Ladies are welcome and a pleasing exhibition of basketball skill is sure to greet them.

FOR MISS GALEY

A member of Glendale society who will be greatly missed is Miss Mable Galey, of 1444 Salem street. Leaving the latter part of this week Miss Galey will go to Yuma, Ariz., where she will visit with her brother and family until the early spring. A number of the ladies in the different organizations of the First Congregational church surprised Miss Galey in her home on Monday afternoon. First meeting at the home of Mrs. McRae they went in a body to the Salem street home.

The pleasant afternoon was spent in music, conversation and the writing of train and day letters, to be opened as marked. These were presented with a few well chosen words of appreciation by Rev. Willisford. Miss Galey's able support in all branches of the church work will be greatly missed during her absence, as will her "sunshiny" disposition.

A delicious repast, prepared and served by the ladies, was enjoyed, with good wishes and "Bon Voyage" closed a memorable afternoon.

REPORT FOR THE YEAR

CITY OF GLENDALE ISSUES ANNUAL REPORT UP TO JUNE 30, 1915

In accordance with requirements the City of Glendale has issued its annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1915. This interesting volume contains much that is of vital import to the taxpayers. Copies of the report may be obtained at the City Hall by application. The report shows that the city government is divided into two sections—legislative and administrative. The legislative functions of the city are indirectly in the hands of the electors and directly with their official representatives, the trustees. The total cost of this division was $10,006.00.

In the administrative division there are three departments—public welfare, public works and public service. Under the public welfare department is found the maintenance and repair of streets. Here we learn that the paving of Broadway from Central to Glendale and on Brand from Colorado to Second is of five-inch concrete base, with three-inch asphalt wearing surface. It has been in existence two years, has cost nothing for repairs and should last without repairs for ten or twelve years to come. The total cost was $67,162.08. The rest of the story of Glendale's streets is here also. It should be read by every taxpayer.

The total cost of all the improved highways to date is $480,287.38. The amount appropriated for the maintenance and repair of all this valuable property this year is $3860, or .90 per cent of its original cost. This is entirely too small.

Under the heading of "public health" it is shown that there is strict supervision of plumbing, dairies, garbage, and all unsanitary waste, which is burned in small incinerators placed at strategic points throughout the city.

Quite a deal of interest attaches to the planting of trees and the parking of the city streets. There are growing in the parkings 8954 trees of fifty-eight varieties. The Black Acacia predominates, with Pepper trees second and Camphor trees third. A number of excellent illustrations show some of the parkings and trees.

Fire Protection is entered on fully and the reasons adduced for the desire of the city to purchase a pumping engine. Police protection cost the city the modest sum of $771.29. The City Marshal and his five officers cover a vast deal of territory and spend a great deal of time in affording the city protection.

Attention is called to the new regulations concerning lot cleaning which resulted in all the vacant lots being cleared of weeds last fall, at a cost of $1.23 and a fraction cents a lot.

The Public Service department is well managed, well organized and prosperous. It gives excellent service; saved $25,000 during the past year in reduced rates and made a handsome profit.

During the year the treasurer handled $784,089.69. This included $400,852.95 receipts and $383,236.74 disbursements. This does not include special assessments or Vrooman Act money.

The story of the engineer's department is illustrative of the economical manner in which the city is managed, and should be read by all taxpayers. The book is profusely illustrated and shows in graphic style the condition of the Wash and the protective work done there and also shows the vast development of the city in ten years. In one photograph taken in 1905 Brand boulevard is practically a desert traversed by the street railway. Ten years shows a prosperous and busy street there. In every way the report is highly satisfactory.

PETITION FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Petitions have been filed with the board of supervisors for the improvement of West Broadway from the west city limits of Glendale to San Fernando road. These petitions have been signed by the owners of property along that line and also by leading business men of the city. When the improvements have been made that section of the street will conform with the improvements already made up to that point. It will give the city an additional first-class street connecting with the great San Fernando thoroughfare.

CHAPTER L, P. E. O.

TESTING A DEMOCRACY

From all accounts when the war in Europe is over the world will witness another struggle no less fierce for the markets of the world. In reality the war that is going on at present is a struggle for the markets of the world. Having failed to settle anything by fighting and slaughter, the nations are evidently preparing for another fight in which two great groups of nations, practically those who are now aligned against each other, will fight each other with economical weapons.

It is certain that the United States will have to take part in this struggle. It is easy to see that in some way or other this country must take sides in the commercial fight. The Central Allies—Germany, Austria, Turkey, Bulgaria and possibly Greece and Roumania—will form one group; while Britain, France, Russia, Italy, and probably the Scandinavian countries, with Spain and Portugal, will form the other group.

To hold its own in this desperate struggle is going to test the stamina of this democracy to the utmost. There will be few scruples observed in this warfare. The United States, however, has many advantages in such a contest. It has an immense capital in the surplus gold it has drawn from Europe in the course of the trade in war munitions. It will be the aim of Europe to get that all back, or at least part of it.

How the United States will emerge from this coming warfare depends on how it can adapt itself to the new conditions. The United States has come into the full tide of life. It seeks for greater and more varied industries, wider markets and more economical methods of production and exchange. If this nation is to hold its own with the flood of cheap foreign competition it is going to have one way or another when the war stops, it will need all that intelligence of direction it has had in the past and more. It will need mutual and co-ordinated effort and a more elaborate machinery of organization.

This American republic has already demonstrated its vitality. It has shown itself adequate to the task of national development and it is not for a moment to be imagined that it is not equal to the task of developing the nation along economic lines. Therefore, how fierce soever may be the competition that may assail it, it is not for a moment to be imagined that this nation is not equal to the task of preserving what it has already won and also of winning new triumphs in the economic field.

To do this, however, it must be equipped with the weapons necessary to fight the competition of Europe. This country has experienced during the past year an intense nationalization. The desperate war in Europe has shown the people of the United States what advantages they possess in the fact that they are citizens of a sane and sensible state and not subjects of an empire of dragons.

With this sudden rise of the democratic spirit has come the very highest sense of nationality. The nation has now a common purpose and will move toward that purpose with one heart and one mind. The American republic is a true democracy and can stand the test of the most trying conditions. Without doubt when the economical struggle begins the nation will see to it that its leaders are provided with the proper weapons both of offense and defense.

JAPAN BUILDING RUSSIAN SHIPS

Japan and Russia, who in 1905 were flying at each other's throats, are now on the most friendly terms. There are points of magnanimity in Russian character and it is not wonderful therefore to find the Russian fraternizing with his former enemy. Of course, a great deal of this fraternization is a matter of necessity. Russia was badly crippled at the outset of the war by the blowing up of her arsenals and munitions factories by German spies. She needed ammunition and needed it so badly that her very existence depended on it.

Japan came to the rescue and has been manufacturing ammunition and supplying it to Russia so that that country has been able to come back after her retreats, with a formidable and up to date victorious army.

Japan is further aiding Russia by building ships for that country. The Russian Trade and Navigation company of Odessa has decided to give Japanese shipbuilding yards a big order for the construction of several large passenger steamers. The Russian ministry of trade and industry thoroughly approves the decision of the company as the beginning of an economical rapprochement between Russia and Japan, which promises much for the future.

At the outset eight first-class ships will be ordered for the Crimea-Caucasus line, after which the company will probably order a second group of steamers for its foreign service on lines which before the war were in the hands of the Germans. Up to this time there have been no steamers of Japanese construction among the vessels of the Russian merchant marine.

Several representatives of the Japanese yards are now in Odessa, where, together with Russian engineers, they are drafting plans for the vessels and conditions to be observed in the construction. Several captains of the Russian company have also been ordered to visit Japan. This intercourse makes the relations of the two nations very much more friendly than they have ever been and is likely to react on Russia in giving her engineers and government officials valuable lessons in efficiency.

It has been discovered by Prof. Kofoid, teacher of zoology in the University of California, that a minute parasite, the Giardia muris, which infests the internal economy of field mice, has the faculty of reproducing itself by dividing into eight separate entities. This division takes place in the free-moving stage of the parasite, immediately before encystment or after encystment has taken place. That means that the reproduction goes on so continuously and rapidly that the chances of combating it are very small. Yet the knowledge of the habits of the parasite, or rather the conditions attending the reproduction of this fatal inhabitant of the lower animal system, is of a great deal of use in enabling physicians to deal with other parasitical cases. Prof. Kofoid's contribution to the knowledge of parasitical life of this microscopical order is another step in scientific advance.

A PETTICOAT MADE OF RIBBON

A silk petticoat, made entirely of wide flowered ribbon, is a novelty. The edges, in lengths to below the knee. To this skirt body are added two ruffles of the ribbon, one below the other. The upper ruffle may be buttonholed with silk matching the predominant tint in the ribbon, and the lower ruffle may be scalloped as well as buttonholed in silk; but both ruffles are effective, even though lift quite plain. A wide elastic, run through a band of its own width, finishes the top of the skirt instead of a drawing string.

recent date. There were but nine were represented in the years ranging from nine to ninety.

Mrs. Oliver O. Clark at 100 South informal affair for yesterday, when

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

The program given under the auspices of the Tuesday afternoon club in the High School auditorium Monday evening proved a decided attraction both from an enjoyable and educational standpoint.

The College of Oratory and the College of Music of the University of Southern California presented the program.

"Within the Law," taken from the play of that name, was wonderfully given by Miss Helenita Lieberg. She was quite charming in the novelette,
"Match Making," supported by Mr.
Walter Spaeth.

The ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon club wish to announce that the General Public is invited to attend any and all of these lectures and entertainments given throughout the series, all dates appearing in advance, and there will be absolutely no admission, nor collection asked.

ENTERTAINS FORMER ASSOCIATES

On Thursday, January 6, at the home of Miss Ada Kenyon, 1500 Oak street, Mrs. M. R. Sprinkle gave a delightful evening party in honor of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company operators who were in the service at the time she was employed by the company. The rooms were prettily decorated in red roses and ferns for the occasion. Tiny bells on cards were given to each guest as he or she entered and made most appropriate souvenirs. The thirty young people present entered most heartily into the amusements provided by the hostess, music and games speeding the hours all too swiftly. Dainty refreshments were served before the happy company disbanded.

AMENITIES OF WAR PRISON LIFE

Just as the crusades with all their sanguinary fighting, their slaughters and their apparent uselessness were the means of bringing the east and west into sympathetic contact and of spreading among the nations a knowledge of each other so the destructive war in Europe may have blessings disguised under all of its miseries.
It is said that the men in the trenches have learned to respect each other and exchange small courtesies during the lulls in the fighting.
It will be remembered how profound was the respect and even friendship felt for each other by Richard the Lion Heart for Sala-din, the Moslem ruler. Each had experienced the other's prowess.

Thus out of the anarchy of cruel war may come a better understanding among the nations. There are German prisoners in England and Austrian prisoners also there. There are British prisoners in Germany and French and Russian. There are German prisoners to the tune of about a million in Russian Siberia. They probably have the worst time of all; but wherever they may be placed or of whatever nationality, the prisoners bring with them a certain element that will go to lighten the land where they are confined.

NORTH GLENDALE

Miss Bertha L. Jackson, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
J. H. Jackson of 1416 Milford St., ed a position in the High School as teacher of Expression.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stanton of Arden avenue, with Mrs. J. Swaggett, Mrs. Lillian Judd and Messrs. John Stanton and Gail Swaggett as their guests, enjoyed a motor trip to Tia Juana, where they spent the weekend, returning home Monday morning.

Mrs. J. Harris of Patterson street spent Monday in Los Angeles, where she was the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Burr of 829 Campbell street entertained as their guest over the week-end, Mr. Burr's brother-in-law, Mr. B. Chambers of Wiert, Imperial Valley.

Friends of Mr. D. C. Whitten of 1500 Kenneth Road will be very glad to learn that he is slowly recovering from the serious illness that has confined him to the bed for the past six weeks and is now able to sit up a little while each day.

raine street, who is stopping in Los Angeles for a few weeks, enjoyed spending Sunday at home with her family.

last Sunday at a prettily appointed dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Eckles of Viola

SILKEN HAT STANDS

Noticeable among the pretty fancy things are the hat stands, 40 inches tall, that are made with a heavy wooden base, a round upright and a mushroom top of wood, all prettily covered with silk, tapestry, or even ribbon, and trimmed with gold lace and little chiffon roses. They are handy to put the hat on when one has not time to put it away in the hat box. They make dainty gifts for girl friends and may be trimmed to harmonize with one's room.

NEITHER ENGLISH NOR GERMAN

Some confuse our Lutheran Church in Glendale with the Church of England, made up of English people. Others because it is Lutheran think of it as German, associating it with Luther in Germany. In fact, it is neither. We call ourselves the "English Evangelical Lutheran Church of America." It is "English" because of the language only, made up of all nationalities speaking the English language. Likewise there are thousands of German, Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Finnish, Russian, German Lutheran churches, so named because of the people and language. Here in America our Lutheran churches are composed of Lutherans of almost every nation under the sun, "no matter as to language, only so you are Lutheran" is the slogan, the language of course being American English. While in thousands of Lutheran churches in this country there is not a word of English spoken.

Now we are "Evangelical" because Luther, the hero of the Protestantism, from 1517 to 1546 in Germany, called all who followed his teachings of the Holy Scriptures, by that name. Always and ever the word "Evangelical" means "Gospel Church," i. e., a Christian church that is founded absolutely upon the Holy Word of God and nothing else. Ours is a church that adheres to its teachings and believes it as our "only infallible rule of faith and practice." It is a church that accepts it as "God's Word." It is not rent and torn by "higher criticism." It is not corrupted by all sorts of "isms" and "ologies" nor yet is it rash to "run after every new fad that bobs up." Her faith is simple, resting on the finished work of Christ and trusting in His spilled blood for complete redemption. All pious and good works are only the "fruit" of a living faith. She is essentially missionary in character, preaching the Gospel in more languages than any other church in Christendom.

She is a great teaching church. She believes instructing her children and members not so much in her doctrines, but in the Word of God. She is not, therefore, "evangelistic" in the modern sense of that word, while she believes and insists on and accepts a change of heart and life essential to living a true Christian life. She thoroughly believes in educating the head as well as the heart in morals and religion, of the true Christian type, in harmony with God's Divine Word. She practices unity of effort with all other denominations that hold to the fundamental principles of our Holy Religion as revealed in the Old and New Testaments. Progress is her watchword, but try the various leading spirits, test out suggestive leadings, and if they fail to come up to the teachings of the Divine Word, discard them. All modern teachings, sciences, philosophies, ologies, that fail to ring true, by the Scriptures as a whole, find her a bitter enemy for time has proven her standing on that rock, "four square."

JAVANESE BATIK WORK

Javanese batik work should appeal more strongly than it does to the hand crafters, for it not only requires the artistic drawing of the patterns but also the deft handling of the waxing and dying of the materials. The name batik was taken from that of the Javanese skirt which is worn by both men and women of Java, and is always decorated with this peculiar sort of work. Many of the museums still have examples of the first crude work done in native design on these skirts.

In Europe the work was developed to its present state of perfection by Mrs. Wegerif Granstein, and her methods are used in America where the work is now being done. The design is first drawn clearly upon white material; then, through a little tube designed for the purpose, hot white wax is run upon the design until it is perfectly covered. The wax is allowed to cool, and when cold the reverse side is also covered with the wax. The paper pattern of the design is then laid over it and any superfluous wax is carefully cut away.

The material is then immersed in a dye bath of sixty degrees, which is not hot enough to melt the wax. The dye bath must be in a flat, large but shallow container, and the material must be handled gently so as not to break or crack the wax. It is allowed to remain in the bath until the desired color is reached, then it is hung up to dry. The wax may be removed and the material pressed to "set" the dye. The result will be a pure white design upon the colored ground.

In a black and white studio, recently decorated by an American artist, the curtains were of white Japanese silk, the design being heroic figures of men holding tigers in leash. They were dyed black, leaving the white design as a border, which produced a most unusual effect. Indian motifs could be adapted to this style of work and be made most artistic as well as historically interesting.

PARIS FROCKS AND HATS

When the fashionable long, somber coats are thrown back, beautiful—many times elaborate—gowns are disclosed. One particularly pretty one, seen recently at the Ritz, was in Bordeaux velvet and black taffeta. The lower part of the skirt was of velvet, all except the portion which covered the hips and was of taffetas; the entire bodice was of taffetas, with the exception of a rather deep yoke of velvet which fell below the shoulders, giving the effect of a cape. The taffeta sleeves were attached to this yoke. At the top the yoke was cut in slits, buttonholed in black, and a black taffeta tie was interlaced through these openings and tied in front. This was carried out again where the velvet skirt joined the taffeta just below the hips, a wide scarf being interlaced and tied in a long bow behind. The taffeta sleeves were wide and were finished with a band of velvet fully eight inches deep. These velvet bands were slit in the same way as the yoke, and a black taffeta piece tied them around the wrists.

With this frock was worn a pretty red toque, close fitting and bordered all around with velvet leaves of the same color. This is a favorite trimming for toques. The leaves are always large and are used much as the flat flowers were used in the summer. Sometimes, instead of leaves, there are large petals made of velvet. A pretty all-white toque was made of cloth and trimmed with very large petal-shaped pieces made of white corduroy. Another, at the same table, was of Bordeaux velvet, entirely covered with very large petal-shaped pieces of the same velvet. These were arranged in rows across the top, a sort of helmet effect being the result.

COOKING CLASSES FOR HOUSEWIVES

Believing that it would be to the advantage of individuals and the community if women were again more directly responsible for the welfare of their families—if less dependence were felt upon the factories, dairies, laundries, canned foods and ready made clothing—some women of New Jersey have opened the public schools after school hours for cooking classes for housewives and maids. In several communities similar classes are being organized, and effort is being made to find some fixed standard of just requirement in domestic service. The civic committee of the Orange Woman's club, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Franks, author of "Efficiency in the Household," has added to its activities a department of household efficiency. Practical lessons in cooking are being given, as well as lessons in economical marketing and household management. The classes have the use of the domestic science plant of the East Orange high school. The leaders in the movement are offering to twenty persons fifteen lessons for $6. The civic committee itself pays half the expenses of the maids' classes in order that this opportunity may be taken advantage of by all, for the low price of $3 for fifteen lessons. It is hoped that the experiment will bring about some solution of the servant problem and the high cost of living.

WAY TO REFURNISH KITCHEN

Mrs. N. is refurnishing her kitchen on 50 cents a week, which she saves from her housekeeping money. One week she invested the half dollar in white paint and painted her refrigerator. Another week she put up new cheesecloth sash curtains at the windows and spent the rest for a multitude of hooks, from which now dangle at the most convenient place and height all the small utensils—such as eggbeater, stirring and measuring spoons, strainers, corkscrews and bottle openers—which she used to keep jumbled together in a drawer far from their spheres of usefulness. A third week's money went for a handy clothes line reel. It is thirty-six feet long, hooks up at three or four points about the kitchen to hang the ironing on, and, best of all, winds up when not wanted, without any tiresome kinks, into its own small metal holders on the wall.

A fourth week she reformed the open flame gas jet by putting up a tiny mantle and globe with mica ceiling protector. Now, though the kitchen is large, the light from the single jet is adequate, where formerly she always had trouble washing dishes at night.—Dallas Morning News.

HOUSE GROWN HYACINTHS

Hyacinths that have been forced in water are of no account after blooming. But those flowered in pots can be dried off gradually. When spring comes, plant them in the open border and they will flower the following year out of doors. The flowers will likely be small, but even small hyacinths are attractive.—The Ottawa Citizen.

PLANTS GIVEN FREE

MRS. WOODS OFFERS COREOPSIS —PLANS FOR BOYS' POTATO CLUBS

Plants of coreopsis have been offered to Mrs. Nanno Woods, for the use of the members of the Garden society. Any member desiring to obtain some of these young plants should call this week at headquarters, 1111 W. Broadway, where Mrs. Woods has her office. Oxalis plants can also be obtained by members. To any member planning to start window boxes, Mrs. Woods can give a limited number of vinca major, the long, trailing plants used in the Hamburger window boxes. These latter grow easily, and are of graceful habit. They cost 15 cents a plant in Los Angeles. For a short time any member of the Garden society, or those joining the society, have the privilege of obtaining these free from Mrs. Woods.

One of the activities of the Glendale Garden society will be launched this week through the medium of the local schools. Miss White, special agricultural teacher, will tell the pupils in her various classes how they can organize into Potato clubs and make pocket money for themselves. A group of boys, say six or eight, can form a club, each put in enough money to have a vacant lot plowed. If the boys cannot supply say 20 or 25 cents each, some man or woman will be found large-hearted enough to lend the club the required dollar and a half or so to finance the plowing. In February the boys will plant potatoes, under the guidance of Miss White; and in May they can reap their harvest. The club will lay plans beforehand to market their crop, either by making contracts to sell the potatoes at home and to their neighbors at market price, or by selling them wholesale to the trade.

Potatoes sown in February require no irrigation other than the natural rains. This is not a new fangled scheme; it has been tried out again and again with great success. Read what other boys have done. Harry Huffman made a net profit of forty-one dollars and seventeen cents off a quarter acre of potatoes. Another boy with a similar quarter acre made twenty dollars and fifty-five cents. Still another, named Harry Hotz, made a net profit from a quarter-acre of potatoes of forty-one dollars and forty-five cents. Wilbur Furrington proved such a good farmer that he made a net profit from a quarter acre of potatoes of sixty-six dollars and seventy-three cents.

Boys have made good money from other vegetables, too. Oliver Erickson made thirty-six dollars and eighteen cents from an eighth of an acre of mixed vegetables. An eighth of an acre is a mighty small piece of ground; any boy willing to put agricultural education and physical perspiration together could do the same out here in Glendale. Oliver Jenkins put an acre of ground into peanuts—and what do you think he made? One hundred and fifty dollars. That was great; but not every one can have the use of an acre.

Vacant lots have been generously offered for the use of boys and girls under the auspices of the Garden society, and any young person wishing to join with others or to work by oneself, should at once consult with Miss White or Mrs. Nanno Woods, or Professor Houdyshel of the High School. Any of these people will help you to start growing vegetables either on a vacant lot or in your own back yard.

Glendale residents are asked to co-operate with the Garden society in helping the young to help themselves. Public-spirited citizens, and surely we do not lack for such in Glendale, are cordially invited to consult with Mrs. Nanno Woods at headquarters, 1111 W. Broadway, to offer the use of vacant lots; to offer temporary loans to ambitious boys (under the care of the schools and the Garden society), and to find out other ways of encouraging these laudable enterprises. Mrs. Woods can be reached over the phone evenings, Glendale, 394; day time, Glendale 1357.

THE VICTORIAN FICHU

With the revival of old-fashioned clothes, fichus have come back. They are becoming to almost every type of woman and although some of them are very elaborate the simplest ones are really the most effective, as a fichu depends upon its graceful lines for its beauty rather than upon ornament.

In the shops they are selling white Georgette crepe by the yard, bordered at each side with a narrow accordion plaiting of the crepe. A yard and a half is sufficient for the fichu. One side is folded over the other about one third of the width, and the ends are crossed and tucked in at the belt. This is called the Victorian fichu. The fichu is worn very high at the back of the neck this year. Of course, this fichu can be easily copied in any other sheer material, such as organdy, and the ruffle made of the same material and gathered on the fichu, or put on a narrow insertion. ## THANKS FOR SERVICE

LIBRARY BOARD AND PUBLIC SERVICE DEPARTMENT THANK GLENDALE NEWS

What a newspaper edited solely for the good of a community can do to advance the welfare of all public bodies and public interests is incalculable. The work thus done is beyond the value of mere advertising. It is or should be the expression of sentiments that are above the possibility of purchase. It has always been the aim of The Glendale Evening News thus to foster and nourish the infant activities of this city and to encourage all proper efforts in the direction of progress and enlightenment. This work has to be done without the expectation of reward and is naturally its own reward. It does, however, have a direct bearing on the business end of the paper and on the advertising end also, as all sections of a newspaper stand or fall together.

The Glendale Evening News consistently gives freely its valuable publicity, without money and without price and from conditions that inevitably prevail in a small community performance gives away this form of advertising for which the larger newspapers receive remunerative rates. All that this paper can expect is to receive sometimes from those who understand and estimate those services at their proper value such tributes as are contained in the following letters:

Glendale Public Library, Jan. 6, 1916.

Mr. A. T. Cowan, Editor Glendale News.

Accept in behalf of the Board of the Glendale Public Library, not only our thanks, but our sincere appreciation of your courtesy of the past year. We have felt the influence of the dignified form of your excellent articles, which have helped the people to realize what the Library holds in store for them.

Your service has been superb, and in return we wish you years of continued success and usefulness.

To Mr. Cowan, for his extreme courtesy, we are grateful. To Mr. St. Clair, who has taken such vital interest and written so scholarly, we are indebted. To Miss Smith and all others interested in our behalf, we extend our gratitude.

Most respectfully, ALMA J. DANFORD, Secretary pro tem.

Public Service Department CITY OF GLENDALE, Glendale, Cal., Jan. 10, 1916.

Mr. A. T. Cowan, Publisher, Glendale Evening News, Glendale, California.

Dear Sir:—Just a word to express my appreciation of your work in getting out our Annual Report, and my gratification at its appearance. It is a credit to yourself and to the City.

Sincerely yours,

H. B. LYNCH, Manager Public Service Department.

UTAH REUNION

The monthly social reunion and reception for all the people who are here from our old home state, Utah, will be held on the 14th of January, 8 p. m., in the Times Bldg., Broadway and First street. The old-time fiddler will furnish music for dancing.

You and all your friends are cordially invited and you are asked to pass this invitation along to every one from our state. Our reunions are held on the Second Friday evening of each month. We always have a fine program, perhaps a brief address, cards and dancing for those who enjoy those amusements. Refreshments are usually served. There is always a chance to enjoy the social time and to meet old friends. The Secretary of the Federation of State Societies is generally there with the home state register so we can see who is here from the old home. Come out and enjoy yourself and help us.—Dorothy Anderson, Secretary the Utah Society.

HALF-TONE EMBROIDERY

Half-tones—that is what they call the work of black-and-white artists who work not in pen and ink or bold black and white, but in the varying shades of gray tones between the two extremes. A new mode of embroidery simulates this work. It uses both black and white threads, but it also uses plenty of grays until a basket of flowers on the end of a scarf looks more as if drawn with soft charcoal than with needle and thread. Try this on the new pattern which you intended working in plain white. It is a welcome variation from the solid color or all-white scheme.—Philadelphia North American.

TREATMENT OF BROOMS

Brooms put into boiling water once a week and then plunged into cold water will become tough and durable, last twice as long as those not treated thus, and will sweep better and not cut the carpet.—Ottawa Citizen.

Cooking with a furnace fire has been made possible by the invention of a food holding attachment to be inserted in a furnace door.—Vancouver Daily Province.

If potatoes are kept in a place where the light strikes them, they will turn green. If they must be in a light place, cover them with newspapers.—Dallas Morning News.

SUGARED HOLLY LEAVES

These are very attractive for the garnishing of puddings and sweet dishes, and are easy to prepare. Strip the leaves from the sprays of holly and with a soft cloth wipe them free of moisture or dust. Then place them before the fire to dry, but do not allow them to curl. When dry dip them into melted or oiled butter, then dust them with coarse powdered sugar, and put them where they will dry. Pack them in a box lined with wax paper until needed.

APPLYING PAINT OR KALSOMINE

Before paint or kalsomine is applied to walls every crevice should be filled with plaster or cement. To the kalsomine put one quarter pound white glue in cold water over night and heat gradually in the morning until dissolved. Mix eight pounds of whitening with hot water, add the dissolved glue and stir together, adding warm water until about the consistency of thick cream.

Use a kalsomine brush and finish as you go along. If skimmed milk be used instead of water the glue may be omitted.—Dallas Morning News.

SIDELIGHTS ON CAST

The general favorite, Chas. L. Peckham, will appear as the "star" in the production of "A Bachelor's Romance," which will be given two performances this week, Thursday and Friday evenings. 'Tis well to remember the supporting cast is most capable in every respect. Dwight Stephenson as Gerald Holmes, a young society man, is in excellent hands, as are also the roles taken by Owen Emery, Frank Littell, Owen Rhodes, Mrs. Harry Neel, Gladys Justema and others.

The final rehearsal tomorrow evening will find all in readiness for the Thursday night's performance.
